

European languages

What are these and origins

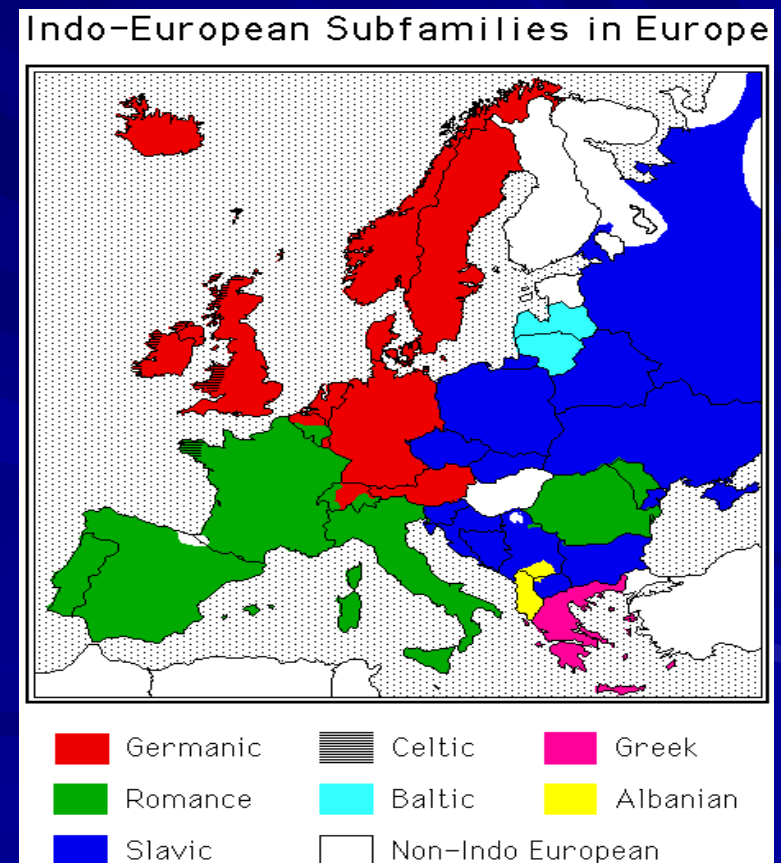

Indo-European language

- Indo-European languages to include the most used languages in Europe.
- All of the Indo-European languages come from an old language reconstructed using comparative methods.

Indo-European languages classification.

■ The Indo-European languages most used are:

- Slavic; Slovenian and Polish
- Germanic; German or English
- Romance ; Italian, Portuguese, French, Spanish and Catalan.

Uralic language

- The Uralic languages form a family of close to 30 languages, spoken by 20 million of people. It is believed that its origin is around the Urals.

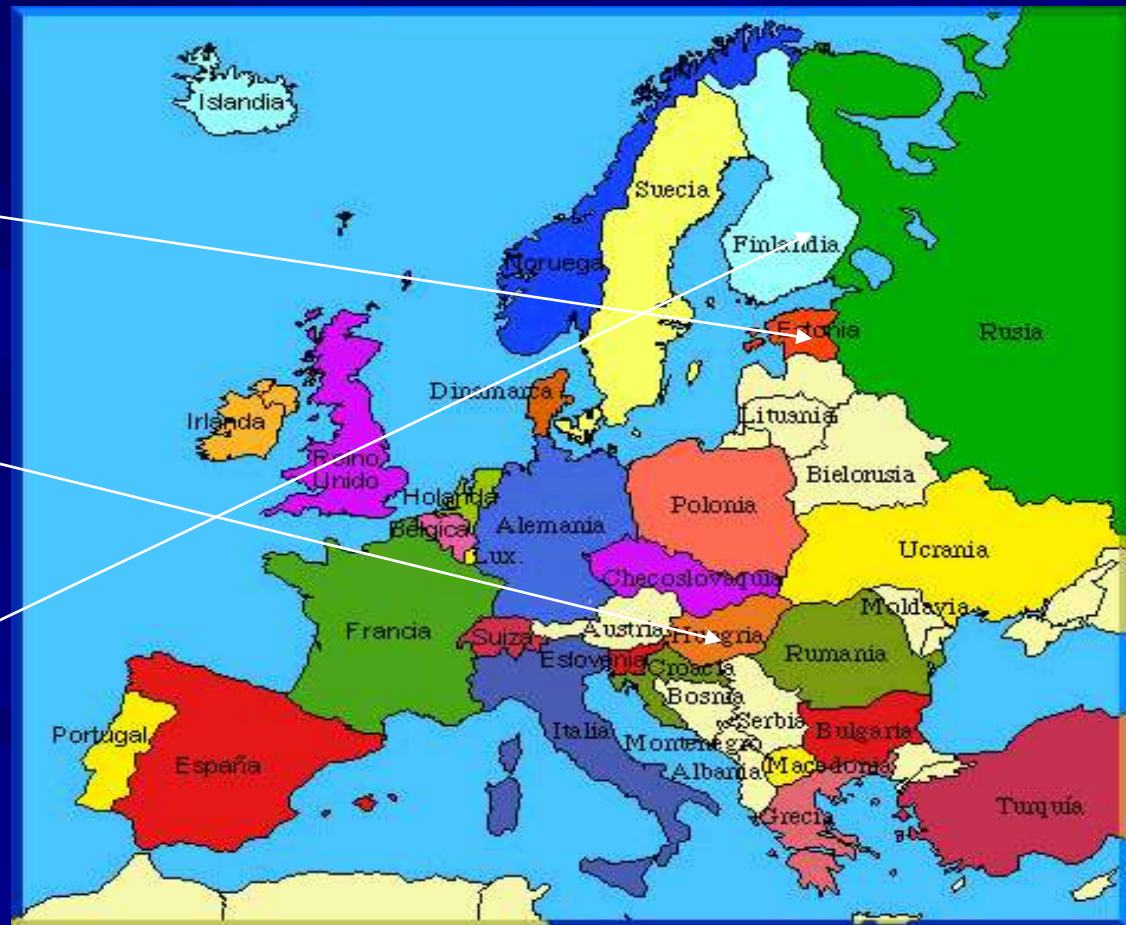

Uralic languages classification

■ The most-spoken languages are:

- Estonian

- Hungarian

- Finnish

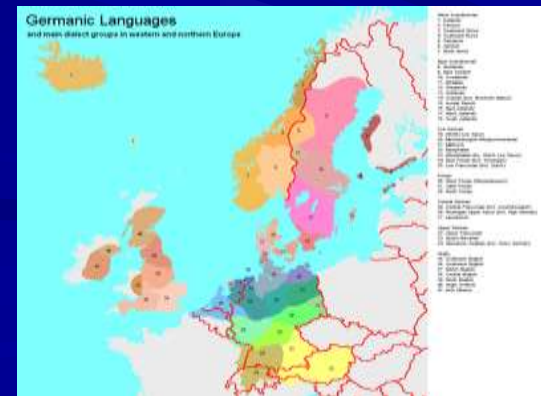

The most used languages in Europe.

- The most used languages in Europe are Germanic languages and Romance.

- Romance

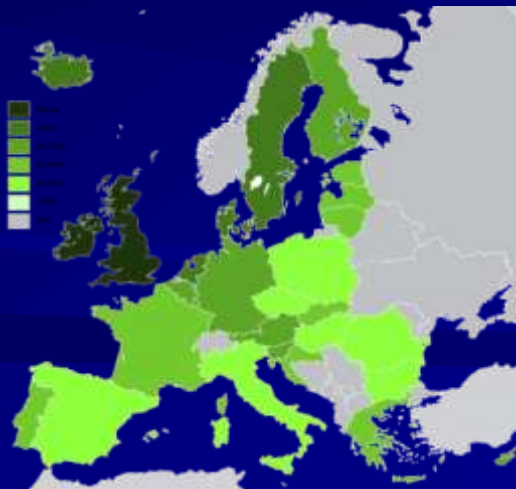

- Germanic

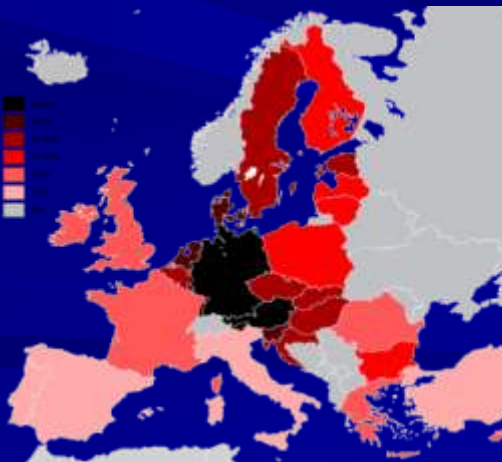

Knowledge of languages in Europe

The best known European languages are English, German and French.

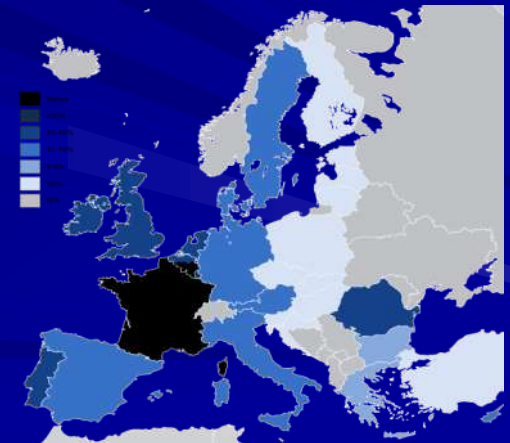

English

German

French

Bibliography

- Microsoft Encarta
- www.xtec.cat
- www.encyclopedia.cat
- www.Viquipèdia.com